

Idaho Youth in Philanthropy Project

Application Deadline: March 7th

About the Program:

The Idaho Youth in Philanthropy Project (YIPP) is a hands-on leadership program exclusively focused on preparing youth in rural communities to become the next generation of philanthropists - those who contribute their time, talent, and resources for the common good. This program aims to empower high school students to address the unique challenges their communities face by awarding grants to nonprofits tackling critical local needs.

The following high schools were selected for the 2025 program and will each award $5,000 in grants to local nonprofits serving their communities.

- Blackfoot High School; Blackfoot, ID
- Heartland High School; McCall, ID
- Richard McKenna Charter High School; Mountain Home, ID
- Rimrock Jr./Sr. High School; Bruneau, ID
- Sandpoint High School; Sandpoint, ID
- Teton High School; Driggs, ID

ELIGIBLE ORGANIZATIONS:

Open to all 501(c)(3) public charities, faith-based organizations (eligible programs include food pantries, childcare centers, etc.), and public entities including cities, counties, and public libraries.

TO APPLY:

- Organizations that are serving residents in the above communities are now invited to apply for funding. Keeping in mind that these applications will be reviewed by high school aged students, brevity is appreciated!
