FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Mollie Holt Named Vice President of Finance & Operations at the Idaho Community Foundation

BOISE – The Idaho Community Foundation (ICF) is pleased to announce Mollie Holt has joined the organization as Vice President of Finance & Operations. In this leadership role, Holt will oversee financial strategy, operations, and internal systems that support ICF's statewide work to strengthen communities through philanthropy and nonprofit capacity.

Holt brings deep experience in finance, operations, accounting, budgeting, and organizational strategy, with a professional background spanning public and academic institutions. Her expertise includes financial administration, business process improvement, ERP implementation, audit relations, staff leadership, and data-informed decision making.

"Mollie brings the kind of thoughtful, strategic leadership that will help ICF continue to grow with integrity and purpose," said Steve Burns, President & CEO of the Foundation. "Her experience leading complex financial and operational work will strengthen the systems that make our mission possible and help us serve donors, nonprofits, and communities across Idaho even better."

Holt said the opportunity is especially meaningful because it brings together finance, leadership, and organizational strategy in service of work that makes a difference in people's lives and strengthens communities. "I look forward to working alongside this incredible team, learning from community partners, and helping advance the Foundation's mission across Idaho," Holt said.

The Idaho Community Foundation connects people, ideas, and resources to create lasting impact throughout the state. As Vice President of Finance & Operations, Holt will play a key role in supporting the strong, internal foundation that allows ICF to partner with donors, nonprofits, and community leaders to make more good possible throughout Idaho.
