Rising Stars Therapeutic Riding Center in Twin Falls has received grants from ICF's Southwest Regional Grant Cycle since 2010.

"We've used our grants from ICF to reach out to thousands of people with new marketing and informational materials, and to train and certify more instructors so that we can continue to build our program. Thanks to ICF we can offer more children and adults with disabilities the opportunity to open their worlds through the special communication and therapy that takes place between horses and riders." – Marni Porath, executive director of Rising Stars

From the President

Q & A with Bob Hoover

After a 43-year career, including the past six years at ICF, President and CEO Bob Hoover is going to try retiring again at the end of 2015 or early 2016. It's his third attempt, but he says he is certain he will stick with it this time because his wife Leslee is also retiring. In Bob's own words: "I want to sleep late! I want to spend less time working off someone else's schedule for me and more time scheduling myself. Or not having a schedule at all."

As you will see throughout this Annual Report, ICF had a great year under Bob's leadership and it's been a productive six years overall.

	2008	2014
Total ICF Assets	$55.1 million	$123.5 million
ICF Endowment	$42.7 million	$103.1 million
Number of Funds	397	519
Grants Awarded (cumulative)	$42.4 million	$76.7 million
Number of Staff	7	12

WHY ARE YOU LEAVING US BOB? WHY?

It's really time. We've achieved many of the goals I had for ICF and it's time for someone with fresh ideas to come in. It's also time for Leslee and me. I travel one to two weeks a month for ICF and it's hard to be away from her. When I'm working I'm pretty focused and I'm not always the best companion. I've also missed spending time with our kids and grandkids.

WHAT WERE YOUR GOALS AS ICF'S PRESIDENT AND CEO?

I was new to the community foundation world so I didn't have a fully realized vision when I started. I knew I wanted to increase the profile and visibility of ICF by hiring new staff. And I knew we were going to need to get on the road and travel.

By the end of my first year I had set our goals – to reach $100 million in the endowment, to have more than 500 ICF funds, to double the amount of grants we had distributed and to significantly increase ICF's visibility across Idaho.

I'll accept credit for setting aspirational but achievable goals, and for hiring the smartest, hardest working staff in Idaho. But credit for the daily work that led to the accomplishment of these goals has to be given to the staff, our Board of Directors and our Investment Subcommittee.

WHAT'S BEEN THE BEST THING ABOUT THIS JOB?

One of the best parts of this job is doing site visits – going to see our grant recipients and learning more about how they use their ICF grants. In a short time, I realized the most important thing we do is support nonprofits across the state in their work.

There are so many worthy causes and my list of favorite site visits is long. One of my favorites was the Blanchard Senior Center in Bonner County. Blanchard is a little town that could have collapsed when the forest industry left, but the women in town decided it could still be a vibrant community. They worked hard to raise money, write grants and market the area, and they built a wonderful senior center with their results. It's become the heart of the community.

Teton Valley Hospital was another one. They have purchased several pieces of medical equipment with ICF grants. Well-equipped community hospitals are so important in rural areas because they give people peace of mind that if they have an emergency or chronic illness they can get care close to home. They don't have to think about giving up their lifestyle and moving to a larger area to be near medical services.

ICF grants are not flashy and they're not large, but we're one of the few consistent grant resources for rural Idaho. Our grants truly enrich the quality of life throughout Idaho.

WHAT ARE YOUR RETIREMENT PLANS?

I especially enjoy looking out on Lake Coeur d'Alene from the home I built there 13 years ago and that is where we plan to retire.

We're also going to take some cooking and dance lessons. We're planning a trip to Florence. I want to spend a month at Spring Training in Arizona. And of course spend time with our children and grandchildren.

I also want to teach again. It's my first passion and I miss it. There are three community colleges and five colleges and universities in north Idaho and eastern Washington. I'm hoping one of them will want an old professor to teach an occasional course or two.

WHAT WILL YOU MISS THE MOST ABOUT ICF OR YOUR CAREER?

I've had a great ride and I feel very fortunate to have had such a rewarding career. I will miss the gratification I feel when I know I've had a role in making a difference in someone's life.

I was talking to a friend once who retired from a longtime executive position and I asked him this same question. He said it was hard to get used to little things like making his own travel arrangements. He said, "All of a sudden you're just one person in a group out there." I won't be part of the excitement anymore and I will miss that.

WHAT ADVICE ABOUT EDUCATION, LIFE AND CAREER WOULD YOU GIVE A YOUNG PERSON WHO IS JUST STARTING OUT?

Don't spend too much time thinking about where your career will take you. Continue learning things about your job and grow professionally, but build a life as a good spouse, parent and community member and be ethical. By doing these things, you will be surprised at the doors that will open for you over your lifetime and the opportunities that will be behind them. Also, while you can't always repay those who assisted you in your career, you can provide support for those beginning their careers as you meet them along the way.

Most of all treasure your life. It is the only one you have and it is fleeting.

Bob and Leslee Hoover, Las Vegas

The Sisson Family Foundation is an ICF philanthropic gift fund the family uses to support their favorite organizations. “Our family talks a lot about community nonprofits. Our oldest daughter, Allie, has had a number of internships with various nonprofits and is very drawn to this type of work. Mimi is just starting to identify what areas of special interest she may have, and we are encouraging her to spend more and more time doing volunteer work. Pete and I both come from families where philanthropy was emphasized and we are drawn to organizations that have a positive impact on our community, specifically children and furry friends.”

Marilyn Sabella (right) and her sister Susan Dalby of Sandpoint, pictured in Susan's art studio, are fund advisors for the Bonner County Fund for Arts Enhancement in ICF.

The fund was created by longtime Sandpoint resident Gretchen Hellar, an artist, community advocate, teacher and former mayor, and will forever support the area's active arts community through projects selected by Marilyn and Susan to receive grants.

LEADERSHIP COUNCILS

Regional groups formed to address a community concern. For more info: www.idcomfdn.org/Leadership_Council

PANHANDLE LEADERSHIP COUNCIL

Serves: Benewah, Bonner, Boundary, Kootenai and Shoshone counties

Highlights: After three years of implementing Color Me Healthy, a program that teaches preschool children about nutrition and exercise in Benewah, Bonner, Boundary, Kootenai and Shoshone counties, the Panhandle Health District and the Panhandle Leadership Council have mutually decided to end the program in June 2015 because all interested child care centers in the region have participated.

SOUTH CENTRAL IDAHO LEADERSHIP COUNCIL

Serves: Blaine, Butte, Camas, Cassia, Custer, Elmore, Gooding, Jerome, Lemhi, Lincoln, Minidoka, Twin Falls counties

Highlights: The South Central Idaho Leadership Council, in partnership with the Idaho Association for the Education of Young Children, United Way of South Central Idaho and Idaho Voices for Children, is implementing Ready! for Kindergarten in Jerome, Wendell and Gooding and one school in Twin Falls. Ready! for Kindergarten provides free workshops for parents and caregivers of children from birth to age 5. Each workshop focuses on understanding developmental milestones and nurturing emerging literacy skills.

SOUTHEAST IDAHO LEADERSHIP COUNCIL

Serves: Bannock, Bear Lake, Bingham, Caribou, Franklin, Oneida, Power counties

Highlights: The Southeast Idaho Leadership Council, in partnership with the United Way of Southeastern Idaho, is providing grant funding to Southeastern Idaho Public Health for a two-year project to improve oral health for students in Soda Springs and Shelley. Approximately 1,200 students will receive free dental assessments. An estimated 320 will receive cleanings, fluoride varnish and dental sealants at no charge.

UPPER SNAKE RIVER VALLEY LEADERSHIP COUNCIL

Serves: Bonneville, Clark, Fremont, Jefferson, Madison, Teton counties

Highlights: The Upper Snake River Valley Leadership Council is working with the Eastern Idaho Public Health Department to conduct dental screening clinics in coordination with immunization clinics already being held. Dental hygienists will assess the oral health needs of the children and apply fluoride varnish and/or sealants as necessary. Children with active dental disease will be referred to an area dentist.

WOMEN'S GIVING CIRCLES

Groups of women who meet regularly to discuss and make grants to local nonprofits. Each member makes a fixed contribution as her membership. These groups have ICF funds to help facilitate their grant making.

LITTLE BLACK DRESS CLUB - BOISE

Established: 2008

Leadership: Jill Aldape, Hilarie Engle, Heather Hill, Brooke Jones, Kim Kaine, Danielle Snelson, Lauren Tassos

Highlights: Members of the LBDC Boise met three times in 2014 for 90 minutes in an after-work social setting. At each event, members heard from three local nonprofit organizations who were given five minutes to pitch their cause followed by five minutes for Q&A. Presenters included Camp Hodia, Idaho Black History Museum, Radio Boise, Look Save a Life and Idaho Fallen Firefighter Foundation.

At the end of each evening, the nonprofit that receives the most LBDC member votes receives all the proceeds raised. LBDC congratulates its 2014 grantees Ride for Joy ($6,400), Boise Contemporary Theatre Lab ($5,400) and Treasure Valley Search Dogs ($4,350). Since its inception, LBDC has granted nearly $58,000 to local nonprofits.

"We provide a means to connect to our community and form personal bonds with like-minded women," says Hilarie Engle, co-founder. "As a group, we learn about giving in general, needs in the community and many of the smaller nonprofit organizations doing incredible work here locally. The collective strength of Little Black Dress Club is what makes this giving circle a powerful and positive force."

LITTLE BLACK DRESS CLUB – WOOD RIVER

Making Philanthropy Fun

Website: lbdcwr.org

Established: 2009

Leadership: Mary Fauch, Tricia Swartling, Jaci Wilkins, Brooke Bonner, Lynn Campion, Kathy Jones

Highlights: The Little Black Dress Club-Wood River's (LBDC-WR) purpose is to introduce women to philanthropy by making it an affordable and fun social experience. Since its inception five years ago, the Club has given $72,306 to 26 different organizations and engaged 155 women in grant making to Blaine County nonprofit organizations.

In 2014 the Club granted $10,000 to five organizations: Wood River Chess Club, The Hunger Coalition, Crisis Hotline, Girls on the Run of the Wood River Valley, and the Bellevue Library. In thanking the LBDC-WR for his group's $3,000 grant, Adam Porth stated, "Not only is the Chess Club emphasizing intellectual and academic development of our students' minds through the sport of chess and related activities, it's sometimes the one reason that they come to school each day."

The LBDC-WR membership grew in 2014, allowing for increased giving to Wood River Valley organizations. Founding member Lynn Campion noted, "The increase in membership demonstrates how our community is evolving philanthropically." The Club has 62 members currently and is striving to reach 100 in 2015.

WOMEN'S GIFT ALLIANCE

WGA | Women's Gift Alliance
Making a Difference Through Philanthropy

Website: www.wgakc.org

Established: 2004

Leadership: Janice Baldwin, Sandra Coultrap, Janet Robnett, Linda Barnes, Carol Randall, Kim Ransier, Colleen Denning

Highlights: The Women's Gift Alliance was formed in 2004 when 50 Kootenai County women joined together to combine their resources to address the philanthropic needs of the North Idaho community. Members try to inspire both new and experienced donors by offering women the opportunity to participate in educational forums, to direct the grant making process, and to associate with the nonprofit community. The goal of the Women's Gift Alliance is to create a pool of educated philanthropists who wisely invest their resources in their local community.

Funding is directed to a broad range of charitable, cultural and educational projects in the community, particularly those which might:

- Create a bold new venture
- Address a community problem
- Foster collaboration or partnerships and/or
- Enrich the fabric of the community

Primary funding goes to one or more large pooled grants each year, ranging in size from $19,000 to more than $25,000 each, depending upon the number of members. From the initial 50 members in 2004, WGA has grown to 126 members in 2015, which will allow for three large pooled grants of $22,500 each this year. Since its inception in 2004, WGA members have contributed more than $975,000.

WOOD RIVER WOMEN'S FOUNDATION

Website: www.WoodRiverWomensFoundation.org

Established: 2005

Leadership: Janet DeBard, president; Joanne Wetherell, vice president

Highlights: WRWF membership soared in 2014. By year's end, it had grown by 77 members to a total of over 250 members. Attention to recruitment was the key. Three separate orientation events were held for new members and guests. Each included an educational component and a speaker from a previous nonprofit grantee. The "Sprouting Fund," a matching fund for new members for their first year of membership, was enticing, although many joined at full membership.

WRWF initiated a Mentor Program, which is utilized by many of new members. The mentor acts as a big sister during the first months of membership.

Lastly, the group began a series of casual, pop-up events called "Meet and Mingles," which are held at public venues. The attendance at each monthly event continues to rise and the group gains new members at these events.

WRWF initiated an Impact Committee and formed Impact Teams that were assigned to grantees with awards over $10,000. The role of the teams during the early part of the grant year was to learn more about the grantees by visiting the nonprofit's activities. At midyear, the teams made site visits to discuss the progress of each grantee and to troubleshoot any challenges that may have arisen. At the end of the year, the teams again make site visits to review the grantees' realization of project objectives as well as short and long-term impact on the community. The nonprofits are grateful for this evidence of WRWF's continuing interest and appreciation of their work.
